Harmony at home

An idiom in Kannada which used to be cited often by old-timers conveys the message that quarrels between married couples happily ends at bed time (Ganda-Hendira jagala undu malaguva thankaka). A wit, adding pep to the time-honoured saying, averred that their wordy battles would ultimately get settled in the bed. In a certain sense, their discord erupting in daylight, according to the idiom, would die in darkness. A narrative on couples who alert their neighbours by indulging in high-decibel verbal exchanges in anger, often mutually hurling insults on their respective lineage, captures the scene in these lines: "The man listens to his lady in the first year of their marriage. The lady takes her turn to listen to her man in the second year. It befalls the neighbours to hear the wordy noise created by the man and the lady in days to follow." This self-created predicament of couples owes its origins to the now-vanished feature of people living in clusters of houses (vataara* in Kannada), familiar to the senior citizens in urban spaces such as in Mysuru. The enormous scope that this feature of society provided for love affairs to bloom and fuse the youth into wedlock is tell-tale.

While the elders in large families pro-actively mentored the younger lot by ironing out the issues before the flare up, their hands-of-help as it were in cementing harmony between couples at home are no longer visible, given the current norm of nuclear families. As a replacement of the old system that endured until not too long ago as it were, the law-makers have now introduced the ground rules of maintaining domestic harmony with penalties for causing domestic violence, mostly focussed on the male partner.

Marriages taking place in a multitude of societies both globally and nationally in India promise to be a highly fascinating study. The two classes namely, arranged and love marriages continue to be debated for their positives and negatives with the opinions divided on two particular aspects namely (a) How long they endure and (b) How harmoniously they carry on. Child marriages, inter-faith marriages, consanguineous marriages, late marriages, gay marriages and so on present a mosaic of outcomes that raise more questions than can be answered unequivocally. The short-term purpose and long-term fallout of the aforementioned various types of marriages are different kettles of fish, making it well-nigh impossible to rank them for their order of harmony.

Gender inequality is only one in a host of factors blamed for disharmony between intimate partners. A research study, as reported in a section of the press, has estimated that globally, violence between life-partners costs the world 25 times more than all wars and terrorism. That may not convince any married couple to mend their fences, and live happily ever after.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

The latest term to enter dictionary is phub (phone + snub) which means ignoring a person in favour of their smartphone. The relatively new term is especially common among youngsters under the age group of 30, and describes a situation where conversations are less interactive and meaningful and can result in the person feeling disconnected. A survey with 100 youngsters from Bengaluru in the under-30 age group found that 72 percent of them phub at least five people a day, and majority of the people getting phubbed are friends, followed by extended family members.

18-year-old looks like 80-year-old

Harbin: An 18-year-old student suffering from a very rare health condition that has caused his facial muscles and skin to droop has made him look like an 80-year-old.

Xiao Cui looks more like a pensioner than a young man in the prime of his life, but it's all due to a mysterious condition that has been causing his facial muscles and skin to sag. Cui says that he noticed the first symptoms during middle school.

Other than completely altering his appearance, the mysterious condition doesn't seem to have had a negative effect on his health, and thanks to the support of his family and friends, he has been able to accept that there is more to life than a youthful look.

The young man says that sometimes people make fun of his looks, and admits that this sometimes gets to him, but he knows the only way to overcome his situation is to stay positive.

Stunning portraits out of ASCII code

Cyprus: One insanely talented tattoo artist has inked stunning portraits using only the 95 characters from the 1963 American Standard Code for Information Interchange (ASCII) standard on his clients' skin.

31-year-old Andreas Vrontis has been tattooing for six years, but he made his first ASCII tattoo in 2015, a portrait of John Lennon. He was nervous about how it would turn out, but it ended up winning him the "Best in Show" prize at at the Cyprus International Tattoo Convention.

He said. "It is a long process and an exhausting one. It can take up to eight hours until the tattoo is done and you need to stay focused until the end."

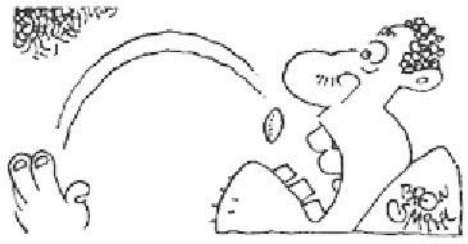
Why is it best to eat almonds raw?



Roasting causes loss of Vitamin E in almonds. Up to 15% of the healthy fats in nuts are lost by the roasting process. Roasted nuts contain slightly more fat than raw. Almonds are a high-calorie food, so they should be consumed in moderation.

Interaction with achiever at Mysuru Art Gallery

Mysuru, June 8- Mysuru Art Gallery, as part of its Sadakarondige Samvada-29, has organised an interaction with Nissar Ahmed, a thermocol artist and expert in mirror writing, at the Gallery premises on Ramanuja Road in city on June 9 at 11 am.

Nissar Ahmed

M.N. Latha Mohan, President, Sneha Sinchana Trust and Kittur Rani Chennamma Award recipient, will be the chief guest. The special invitees are senior artist Syed Munnavar Hussain and art teacher Manohar Lokesh.

Also, an expo of thermocol art works created by Nissar Ahmed will be on display at the Gallery on June 9 and 10 from 10 am to 6 pm, according to a press release from the Gallery President L. Shivalingappa.

Profile

Nissar Ahmed's hobby of thermocol carving started from the alphabets! Nissar gave shapes of alphabets out of waste thermocol instead of buying chart for his kids to practice alphabets and in later days, he found it interesting and challenging to carve anything and everything he looks at.

Nissar, who owns a tailoring shop 'Feminine Creation' on D.D. Urs Road, was forced to quit his studies while he was in VII std., and he started working as a fruit seller, worked in garages, bakeries, fruit godowns and tailoring shops, as his father Faqir Ahmed was the lone bread-winner for a family of 12.

The 67-year-old, who is still under medication for epilepsy, finds it difficult to even write at times as his hands turn numb, but his love for art kept him determined to fulfil his ambitions.

He also has passion for 'Mirror Writing' — He can do so in English, Kannada and Hindi languages as well.

A resident of Kesare here, Nissar Ahmed lives with his wife Sumaya, a Junior Health Assistant in S.R. Hundi. The couple has three daughters — Sabiha, Seema Sulthana & Gullafsha and son Mohammad Imran Ahmed.

Political untouchability no solution to differences: Pranab at RSS hub

Former President Pranab Mukherjee says intolerance will only lead to dilution of National identity

Nagpur, June 8- Giving his much awaited speech at the RSS headquarters, former President Pranab Mukherjee said on Thursday that political untouchability is not a solution to ideological differences. He added that informed and reasoned public engagement is of national importance. "A dialogue is necessary not only to balance the competing interests but also to reconcile them."

Speaking at Reshimbaug Grounds at the headquarters of the RSS here on the occasion of Tritiya Varsha (graduation ceremony of RSS functionaries) yesterday, Mukherjee made it clear that the "soul of India resides in pluralism and tolerance". He then went on to underline the secular and composite culture of India.

"I am here to share my concept of nation, nationalism and patriotism in the context of India. Our national identity has emerged after a long process of confluence and assimilation, the multiple cultures and faiths make us special and tolerant," he said.

Former President Pranab Mukherjee shares a light moment with RSS Chief Mohan Bhagwat at Nagpur yesterday.

Sangh Chief Mohan Bhagwat underlined RSS's commitment to "unifying" society and that the imprint of Indian culture can be seen on all Indians. His comments seemed intended to take away some of the sting on the former President's remarks on the need to preserve and celebrate diversity. At the end of the function, Mukherjee stood up with others as the RSS flag was lowered but did not join the "salute".

Mukherjee's decision had drawn criticism from Congress and the Left while his daughter Sharmistha Mukherjee, who is a Delhi Congress spokesperson, had also tweeted against the visit. Those in the know of his visit, however, insisted that Mukherjee was no longer bound to seeing issues through a political or partisan prism as his active association with party politics ended after he became President in 2012.

The former President sought to rise beyond the political controversy that surrounded his visit to the RSS headquarters and gave a historical perspective of the different kingdoms and conquests of India over the years. "Throughout this period of 2,500 years of changing political fortunes and conquests, the 5,000-year-old civilisational continuity remained unbroken.

In fact, each conqueror and each foreign element has been absorbed to form a new synthesis and unity."

He did not refer to the reservations some Congress and Left members expressed at his decision to visit the RSS headquarters and share the dais with Mohan Bhagwat.

'Sangh is Sangh, Pranab is Pranab'

RSS Chief Mohan Bhagwat has dismissed all criticism about former President Pranab Mukherjee attending an event at the RSS headquarters and said his presence is a not a matter of debate at all.

"There has been a tradition that we invite well-known people from various walks of life for our Tritiya Varsh event. We are only following this tradition. There is no meaning in the discussion that has happened this time.

Everyone in this country knows the personality of Pranab Mukherjee. We are grateful that we are able to learn something from him. How Pranabji was called and how he is coming is not a matter of debate. Sangh is Sangh, Pranab is Pranab. There have been many debates about Pranab Mukherjee attending the event but we do not consider anyone different from ourselves," the RSS Chief said.

Grand welcome accorded to Minister S.R. Mahesh on his arrival in city

Mysuru, June 8 (SBD&DM)- Newly appointed Minister S.R. Mahesh, who won from K.R. Nagar Assembly segment of the district was accorded a warm welcome upon his first visit to the city, yesterday after becoming the Minister.

As soon as Mahesh reached the Toll Gate on Mysuru-Bengaluru Road, hundreds of his followers who had gathered at the spot, gave him a warm reception by garlanding him and bursting crackers.

Speaking on the occasion, S.R. Mahesh said that he was an MLA from K.R. Nagar and he has been a resident of the city for years.

Stating that he was elated with the reception that he has got in his home town, the Minister maintained that he had not demanded a specific portfolio.

Pointing out that he will be satisfied with whatever portfolio he gets, the Minister thanked the voters for electing him.

Traffic on the ever-busy Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway was disrupted for some time as hundreds of people gathered near the Toll Gate to welcome the new Minister.

Mayor Bhagyavathi, Deputy Mayor Indira, City JD(S) President K.T. Cheluvegowda, former Mayors R. Lingappa and M.J. Ravikumar and others were present.

VOICE OF THE READER

Kudos to Police Personnel

Sir,

I am senior citizen aged 71 years. A week back, I received a message on my cell phone from the Passport Office, informing me to contact Saraswathipuram Police Station for verification. Accordingly, I went there along with my relevant records. It was about 10.10 am and almost all Station personnel were busy in their office work.

Entering into the Police Station I just enquired the receptionist as to whom I have to contact. The concerned staff politely told me to contact one Kumar. As informed by him I stepped into the room where Kumar was seated. He too was busy with his office work like others. Upon seeing me and after hearing the purpose of my visit, he asked me with a smiling face to take seat, and wait for ten minutes. In the meantime he began to verify my records and completed the process within the time limit as given by him. I thanked him and shook hands.

The friendly atmosphere at Police Station and the respect shown to senior citizens made me feel very happy in these days where the officials make the citizens run from pillar to post for simple works. I thank all of them and wish them all the best.

Musings on Dogs and Men!

Being neither a dog-lover nor a dog-hater, little did I think that I would be writing about dogs and men today. But that was only until I read in yesterday's SOM that our City Corporation is seriously planning to regulate dog ownership within the limits of Namma Mysuru. The inspiration for this abrupt and rather quirky decision seems to have come from a similar announcement made by the BBMP in Bengaluru very recently.

Yes, how can authorities in Mysuru not have the authority which their counterparts in Bengaluru have? Would it not amount to unfairness and painful inequality? The report says that the number of pet dogs will be restricted to one per family if you happen to be an apartment dweller and three per family if you happen to be dwelling in a house with a compound of your own. This rule has naturally ruffled the feathers or more appropriately the fur of dog owners and it is already being countered tooth and nail by dog owners in Bengaluru, especially by a group under the name "Not without my Dogs."

I presume their resolve matches their very impressive logo! They ask how the civic body can step in to restrict the number of dogs they can keep if the society bylaws of the building they reside in do not have any such restrictions. Yes, they have a valid point because at the time of buying or hiring an apartment or a house they would have considered the presence or absence of this restriction before parting with their money and moving in with the intentions of dwelling there in peace and comfort for a period of their choice and convenience.

Although there are likely to be very few people who own more than three dogs there are some families who love dogs so much that they rescue and adopt strays out of pure compassion and give them good care and a cozy home at great cost. My family is one among them. We were forced to become dog owners when one cold December night a tiny female puppy, probably separated from its mother, decided to take shelter under our car parked in the portico and simply refused to go away despite our best efforts to convince it that we did not have the reciprocal love that it had for us! And so as the saying that 'love begets love' goes, over a period of time that seemed amazingly short, it managed to get more than its share of love from all of us! Probably blessed with more than its normal share of fecundity, it has presented us with four pups which we did not have the hearts to throw out!

Now if we are to be bound by the impending canine regulations what will happen to such adopted dogs? Can their owners find willing homes for all of them in their neighbourhoods or circle of friends? Can our City Corporation do this job effectively? I think not. It is said that this body is also thinking of making licensing of all pet dogs mandatory with even the implantation of a smart chip into each one of them that gives them an identity and proof of ownership. All at extra cost to the owners, of course.

I wonder if it will even go a little further and profile their DNA too so that they can easily decide which dog bit whom by sampling the saliva retrieved from dog-bite victims! This question comes to my mind because the authorities say that they have been prompted to think like how they are thinking now to prevent dogs from mauling people like how a pet dog recently mauled a child of the very same family that owned it in our city. I simply fail to understand how these outlandish regulating and documenting steps can prevent such incidents.

Can an animal be made to understand that since it has now been honoured with a licence and an identity it should now also acquire the civility and decorum that is often missing in many humans? Sounds pretty preposterous and laughable! Doesn't it? Unprovoked pet dogs usually do not attack members of families that own them unless they feel greatly threatened by them. Or there is also the possibility that the dog was a new acquisition and it was therefore not yet very comfortable with its new owners.

Pets, especially if they are already grown up when they are adopted, take a little longer to become affectionate and completely harmless. I feel that instead of harassing dog-lovers and pet owners with ridiculous rules and money-making gimmicks, the City Corporation should first wash its own stables clean and show some action in controlling the population of stray dogs which is not showing any signs that it is being contained. All that the Corporation authorities say that they are doing in this direction seems to be completely false and even fabricated because we find that stray and unvaccinated dogs that are the real threat to citizens' safety are continuing to haunt every locality of our city since years. They are the ones who attack people without provocation and disturb the tranquility of the nights by their territorial fights and constant howling.

I can provide photographic evidence of at least ten such dogs that laze around my home round-the-clock and growl menacingly when I approach my car under which they seek refuge from the sun and rain. It is not clear if all the provisions of the BBMP version of the 'Canine Canon' will become a part of its counterpart here too but they make very interesting reading.

Owners of pet dogs will henceforth be obliged to carry plastic bags and pick up the poop in them for proper disposal failing which they are liable for harsh penalties. It does not matter if shameless men themselves disgustingly pee against people's walls all along our roads and streets as they have been doing for years as long as their dogs do not do it! Or will the Corporation also soon make it mandatory for such shameless souls to take the trouble of carrying a few polythene pouches and rubber bands to carefully collect their own effluents and transport them back to their homes?

And incidentally, what does the Corporation propose to call its new dog licence? Considering how faithful the dog has been to man over the years, how about calling it the 'WAFADAAR CARD'? Do think about it!

Abolition of Jamma Tenure

Officials refuse to fix revenue for Jamma lands despite Government Order

MLA K.G. Bopaiah

MLA Appachu Ranjan

Madikeri, June 8 (PS&BCT)- Jamma land holders in Kodagu are put into severe inconvenience as the Revenue Department officials are returning files of revenue assessment and land conversion, taking the excuse of 'Jamabandi' rules. Officials have made it mandatory to follow the 'Jamabandi' of the year 1912 to fix revenue for a particular property and conversion of that property from 'Jamma' to 'Sagu.'

Officials are returning the files despite a Government Order (GO) issued in 2013. In turn, they are insisting land holders to produce the land documents of 1912 for land conversion and as a result, land owners are put into a lot of hardship.

As per government records, a Jamabandi is Record of Rights of a village. The Jamabandi register contains names of owners, area of land, shares of owners and other rights. It also indicates cultivation, rent and revenue and other cesses payable on the land. These records are documents that are maintained for each village within its Panchayat.

It may be recalled here that in 2013, the then BJP government had brought in amendments to Karnataka Land Reforms Act and had sent the Bill to the then Governor H.R. Bharadwaj for approval so that the Bill could become a Law. However, the Governor refused to sign the same and this resulted in a lot of confusion about the fate of the Bill. Later, the State Government sent the Bill to the Office of the President for his assent. The then President Pranab Mukherjee signed the Bill and it became a Law in Karnataka.

Though the law has come into force, Revenue officers are refusing to clear land documents and insisting on 1912 records. Residents of Kodagu have alleged that the officers are not aware of the 2013 Land Reforms Amendments and were making the land owners run from pillar to post for land conversion.

BACKGROUND

The British, who ruled the Indian Subcontinent, implemented land revenue rules for the first time in 1899 and brought in the Coorg Land and Revenue Regulation Act. They classified the land and prepared a Jamabandi account for each village. Accordingly, the land was divided and renamed as Jamma land, Jamma Baane, Umbali, Jahagir Baane and fixed revenues. The British also brought in tax exemption rules.

Later on 1.4.1964 during the Chief Ministership of Devaraja Urs, the Karnataka Land Revenue Act was implemented where the Jamabandi system was scrapped and Record of Rights (RTC) was implemented and even now, RTC is in force.

In 2013, amendments for Land Revenue Act were brought in for the convenience and benefits of the land owners but the officials are not ready to implement the amendments. In Kodagu, Virajpet Taluk has the highest number of Jamma land owners and as the revenue for those lands are not fixed, the lands have just remained as inheritance.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Virajpet MLA K.G. Bopaiah alleged that though the 2013 amendments have become a law, the corrupt Revenue Department Officials were not following the rules. "Their intention is to make money and are exploiting innocent land owners. The BJP will organise a mass protest forcing the officials to fall in line," he said.

Somwarpet MLA Appachu Ranjan has criticised the Revenue officials for inconveniencing the land holders in the name of land records. "The President himself has signed the 2013 Land Revenue Act amendment. Despite this, officials are not bothered to implement the new rules. We will have to protest against the injustice," he said.

Retired Tahsildar of Madikeri T.C. Thammaiah has said that the officers have to mandatorily implement the 2013 amendments as it is a law now. "Unfortunately, most of the Revenue Officials are not aware of the amendments and their lack of knowledge has resulted in people facing hardship," he said.

Echo of Writ Petition in High Court over Gun License Exemption to Kodavas

Federation of Kodava Samajas to take up legal battle

Federation of Kodava Samajas President Kallichanda Vishnu Cariappa is seen addressing the meeting at Balugodu recently as Patron Member Meriyanda C. Nanaiah and others look on.

Madikeri, June 8 (PS&BCT)- The Federation of Kodava Samajas has decided to take on certain vested interests who have filed a Writ Petition in the Karnataka High Court questioning the exemption to Kodavas and Jamma land holders in Kodagu district from obtaining a license to possess firearms under Section 3 and 4 of Indian Arms Act, 1959.

At the 12th Annual General Body Meeting of the Federation held recently at its headquarters at Balugodu village near Virajpet, it was decided that the Federation will take the legal battle forward. The meeting was chaired by Kallichanda Vishnu Cariappa.

Captain (Retd.) Yaladalu K. Chethan, son of Yaladalu D. Keshavananda has filed a Writ Petition in the HC on Jan. 8, 2018 and the Court has deferred the hearing after summer vacation.

In his petition (WP No. 1386/2018), Chethan, a resident of R.T. Nagar in Bengaluru, claimed that the continuation of the exemption, granted to some class of persons by the British government in pre-Independent India in furtherance of their divide-and-rule policy, was unconstitutional, as it was based on irrational, fictitious and discriminatory grounds, such as race and ancestral land tenure. He claimed that the exemption granted to Jamma holders and for the members of Kodava race under Section 3 and 4 Indian Arms Act differentiates between communities living in a society and promotes disharmony.

The Federation meeting criticised the move to file the Writ Petition and regretted that the petition has been filed at a time when different communities were leading a harmonious life in Kodagu and it attempts to divide the community. The Federation has stated that it will take on the issue legally and give an appropriate answer to the petition in the High Court. The decision was approved by the Federation President and members.

The Federation also decided to take the lead in fighting for issues where injustice is meted out to Kodava community in the future and act as one voice in such cases.

Ashtamangala Prashne

The Federation also appealed to the heads of Kodava Samajas to attend a meeting at Talacauvery on June 18 and 19 where the issues brought out at the recently held Ashtamangala Prashne (octagonal questioning ceremony) will be discussed.

The Federation has stated that it will extend its full support for the Kodava Hockey Festival that will be organised next year by Harihara Mukkatira family. Federation President Vishnu Cariappa has clarified that members of all Kodava Samajas are the members of the Federation.

President of Bengaluru Kodava Samaja Mandeyada Ravi Uthappa, Madikeri Kodava Samaja President K.S. Devaiah, Somwarpet Kodava Samaja President Maletira Abhimanyu Kumar, Balele Kodava Samaja President Malachira Bose Chittiappa, Federation Joint Secretary Codanda Sannu Uthappa, Secretary Voterira Shankari Poovaiah, Treasurer Chiriyappanda Kashiyappa, Patron Members Meriyanda C. Nanaiah, Mallengada Dada Belliappa, Donor Member Bottolanda Mittu Chengappa, Women's Association President Chiriyappanda Immi Uthappa and others were present on the dais.

Do not drain rain water collected on terrace to UGD line

Mysuru, June 8 (US)- MCC Executive Engineer (UGD Division) in a press release has alleged that many house owners in city drain the rain water collected on terrace directly to Under Ground Drainage (UGD) system which resulted in UGD overflowing during rainy season resulting in sewage water flowing on roads.

Hence the house owners have been asked to connect the drain line from terrace to storm water drains.

The Executive Engineer further stated that solid wastes including plastic from hotels and hostels were being thrown into the UGD system resulting in frequent blockage of line which should be stopped. Girls hostels have been asked to install incinerators for disposing used sanitary napkins.

Celebrated visit of Citizen Pranab Mukherjee to RSS HQ

Much is made about former Congress Union Minister and the former President of India Pranab Mukherjee's visit to RSS Head Quarters (HQ) in Nagpur to address a function yesterday. Even as the news of the visit was announced, the Congress began to question the visit as ill-advised and absolutely wrong. How can a Secular leader and now a common citizen compromise the 'sacred' principles of Secularism and thus indulge in camaraderie with a Communal Hindu organisation like Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS)?

The Communists too were not far behind in criticising Pranab Mukherjee for his decision. The opinion of these parties and the Leftist thinkers is that 'if you are not with us, you are against us.' Was Pranab Mukherjee against the principles of the Congress on the question of Secularism? Was the RSS Communal, a word used as an antinomy to Secularism? These two politically charged words — Secular and Communal — are the creation of the Indian Leftists [on the verge of exiting from the Indian Democratic electoral polity] and the Congress, which too is under the threat of giving-in to the BJP, an offshoot of RSS. In other words, what Nehru-Gandhi dynasty is to Congress, RSS is to BJP.

I have been wondering at the steady decline and fall of Congress Party in today's electoral politics because this was the party that ruled India for decades after Independence in 1947 mesmerising the educated and uneducated voters with the sentiments of 'Unity in Diversity' at home and 'non-alignment' in foreign policy.

Sadly, it was the Congress Party that exploited the diversity in religion, caste, language, economic status, even culture and history of regions to win elections. Its appeasement policy of Muslim and Christian minority religions became famous as "Congress Vote Bank" till it was breached by Mulayam Singh Yadav's Samajwadi Party (SP) in Uttar Pradesh. Muslims too realised the Congress was 'playing politics' with Muslim rights under the Constitution. And smart-fanatical Muslim bodies too began asking, "Sir some more please" from a Congress too willing to oblige. So you have a Shah Bano case, for example.

In Mumbai, it was Shiv Sena under Bal Thackeray that exposed Congress and its secrets of winning elections by dividing Hindus on caste-lines and by building minority vote banks. One example is how Shiv Sena exposed Congress' political hypocrisy. The Muslims in South Bombay, on a particular busy road were allowed to offer Friday prayers on the road as the local Mosque was not able to accommodate all the faithfuls. During this prayer time at noon, the road used to be closed to facilitate Muslim brethren. Shiv Sena objected but the Congress government said no.

Before Congress Government would know what would Shiv Sena do, the busy Prabhadevi road where the rich and famous lived and where the famous Siddivinayaka Temple is located, was flooded with thousands of women and men holding Mahaarati trays in hand offering puja on a Saturday and every Saturday. The road was blocked for hours. It was Shiv Sena's answer to Congress government's 'no' to its objection.

It was only then the Muslim organisations came up with the statement that it had sought permission to construct multi-storey buildings on the existing Mosque but the Congress government refused. However, after the arati protest, permission was granted. Well, this could have been done when the request was made. But, no. Congress, probably, wanted the Muslims to know how helpful Congress was — going to the extent of closing the public road to help the Muslims to pray! So much for working towards 'Unity in Diversity.'

As for Secularism, it is simply the principle of treating all religions, and India has many, equally as per the law of the land. Any discrimination between the majority and minority is not being Secular. When the State (government) functions only as a temporal authority, to the exclusion of ecclesiastical, religious, matters, it is Secular. But in India the governments always had a hand in religious matters doling out favours and benefits to suit the electoral politics.

So much for Secularism in India. However, Communalism is endemic in our country. Congress may see Communalism only in BJP and RSS. Well, "Why do you look at the speck in your brother's eye, but fail to notice the beam in your own eye?" said Jesus. Congress is equally communal. It gives tickets to contest election on the basis of religion and caste. It also allots portfolios to the Ministers on the basis of caste and religion — Brahmin, Vokkaliga, Kuruba, Lingayat, Christian, Muslim, SC and ST — as is now seen in Karnataka and NOT on the Minister's merit. Hence, is not Congress too communal? This is the question we must ask the Congress which is crying foul about Pranab Mukherjee's visit to the RSS HQ yesterday.

Pranab Mukherjee in his speech had emphasised on the need to practice tolerance by all irrespective of differences in religion, political party, economic situation, caste, creed and language. He said, "Indian Nationalism" is based on "Constitutional Patriotism." What he means, I guess, is that patriotism in India is not the monopoly of any religion, read Hindu, but is derived from our Constitution. If this is the thinking of Pranab Mukherjee, what is objectionable in it? Congress and Leftists seem to be creating a phantom of Communalism to pursue their political agenda.

Can anyone undo what Pranab Mukherjee calls "Our inherited and shared diversity." I think not. Not even RSS can.

And for sure, it has no such intentions either, from what I heard from RSS Chief Mohan Bhagwat's speech yesterday. So Congress may stop crying wolf about Pranab Mukherjee's visit to RSS HQ.

And Congress may well remember, that this organisation is Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) which means National Volunteers Service Association and not Hindu Swayam Sevak Sangh to be even considered communal by its nomenclature unlike the Muslim league.

Six arrested for killing suspected pickpocket

Police warn public not to take law into their own hands even if they spot a thief

Mysuru, June 8 (RK&BCT)- The city Police have warned the public not to take law into their own hands even if they spot a thief or somebody who is moving suspiciously. This warning comes in the wake of an incident where a suspected thief was thrashed by the public as he was found roaming in a suspicious manner at Cheluvamba Hospital premises a month ago. So badly was he beaten that the victim died and now a murder case has been registered against 6 persons and all of them have been arrested.

According to the Police, on the night of May 10, 26-year-old Mohammed Irfan was brutally assaulted by public with PVC pipes at Cheluvamba Hospital on suspicion of being a pickpocket. He died in the hospital the next day.

Initially, the Police did not have any clue about the assailants but after viewing CCTV cameras outside the Cheluvamba Hospital and the Child Care Unit, they rounded up six persons based on the camera visuals.

The Police, on June 6, arrested 33-year-old Mahadeva Naik of Hassan, 30-year-old Raghavendra of Nanjangud, 30-year-old M.C. Shashikumar of T. Narasipur, 24-year-old Prem Kumar of T. Narasipur, 26-year-old Madan Gopal from Hunsur and 24-year-old Ravi from Chamarajanagar.

Upon interrogation, the accused revealed that Irfan was moving suspiciously at Cheluvamba Hospital premises and was following one Jayalakshmi, a woman from K.R. Pet who had admitted her daughter at the hospital. Jayalakshmi had complained to the accused youth that Irfan was following her and was looking to snatch her vanity bag.

The assailants told the Police that they thought Irfan was a thief and wanted to teach him a lesson. They then assaulted Irfan black and blue with PVC pipes and stones. They then tied him to the pillar at the gates of Indira Canteen and assaulted him.

While the assaulters left the place as it was dark, a badly injured Irfan was admitted to K.R. Hospital by other public. Irfan died the next morning and a murder case was registered at Devaraja Police Station. The Police have now managed to arrest all the accused. Though the assailants have claimed that there were more in their group who assaulted Irfan, CCTV visuals revealed that it was only 6 people who assaulted the victim based on which the arrests were made.

The investigation was led by Devaraja Inspector Shantharam, Sub-Inspector Mahadevanayaka, ASI Umesh Murthy and staff. City Police Commissioner Dr. A. Subramanyeswara Rao has announced a cash reward.

Hand over suspects to Police, public told

Police Commissioner A.S. Rao has warned public of action in case they take law into their hands. "People don't have any right to assault or attack any suspect or person accused of crime. Manhandling any accused is crime and punishable. Public should hand such suspect over to Police for action and they must not take law into their hands," he said. In this case, the accused have been produced before a court that has handed them to 14-day judicial custody.

Nuanced abhinaya exhibited in Vasudevacharya's compositions

Many of Mysore Vasudevacharya's compositions have been popularised by our musicians. Dr. Vasundhara Doreswamy's performance at Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha on the evening of 28th May proved that Acharya's compositions can also be adapted by dancers for Bharathanatyam.

On the occasion of 153rd birth anniversary of Mysore Vasudevacharya, Vasundhara included seven of Acharya's compositions in her recital.

The compositions were choreographed by Vasundhara, Balasubramanya Sharma sang, Natuvanga performed by her disciple Bhramari, violin played by Thandava Murthy, mridanga by Hanumantharaju and flute by Rakesh.

Vasundhara is known for her crisp and convincing presentations and her flexible body which she has maintained with care and concern obeys her in all her bending and expanding yoga postures.

Her first choice for the evening was the popular 'Bhajare re Manasa shri Raghuveeram' in Abheri, which is a composition normally sung by almost all the musicians who perform at the Sabha. Vasundhara began her recital with this evergreen composition wherein two episodes from Ramayana — the killing of Mareecha and Vali were effectively displayed at 'Ravana Mathanam.'

While the spectator wondered why the killing of Mareecha and Vali was shown and not of Ravana at 'Ravana Mathanam,' the artiste moved on to 'Girija Ramana Natajana Sharana' in Gambheera Nata. Here the artiste brought to fore different aspects of the mythological characters effectively. 'Kama dahana' and 'Ananda Tandava' were highlighted.

'Devadhideva Shri Vasudeva' of Vasudevacharya is a favourite of all musicians and listeners. At 'Ee velana aaru Shatrulanu' Vasundhara illustrated the six enemies — Kama, Krodha, Lobha, Moha, Mada and Matsarya and at 'Shri Janakeesha,' Seeta's swayamvara was shown brilliantly. Tana varna in Bilahari was a proof of Vasundhara's mastery over the footwork in jatis and her energy. At 'Palimpa' Vasundhara covered Draupadi's vastrapaharana and at 'Bala Gopala' Krishna's stealing the butter and later the entire universe shown in his mouth to his mother Yashoda.

'Shyla sute, Shiva sahite' is a rare composition in Vasanta which describes Parvati as the mother of Ganapati and Shanmukha. Vasundhara excelled in the episode of Parvati (Chamundeshwari) killing the demon Mahisha. Javali in Kamach explored the pangs of separation suffered by the nayika from her beloved, wherein she recalls several episodes of their being together. The concert concluded with the tillana in Suruti.

Hanumantharaju showed good rapport with the dancer's portrayal and her varying speeds in jatis. Bhramari's bold natuvanga to her Guru's performance was appreciative and Rakesh did well on flute.

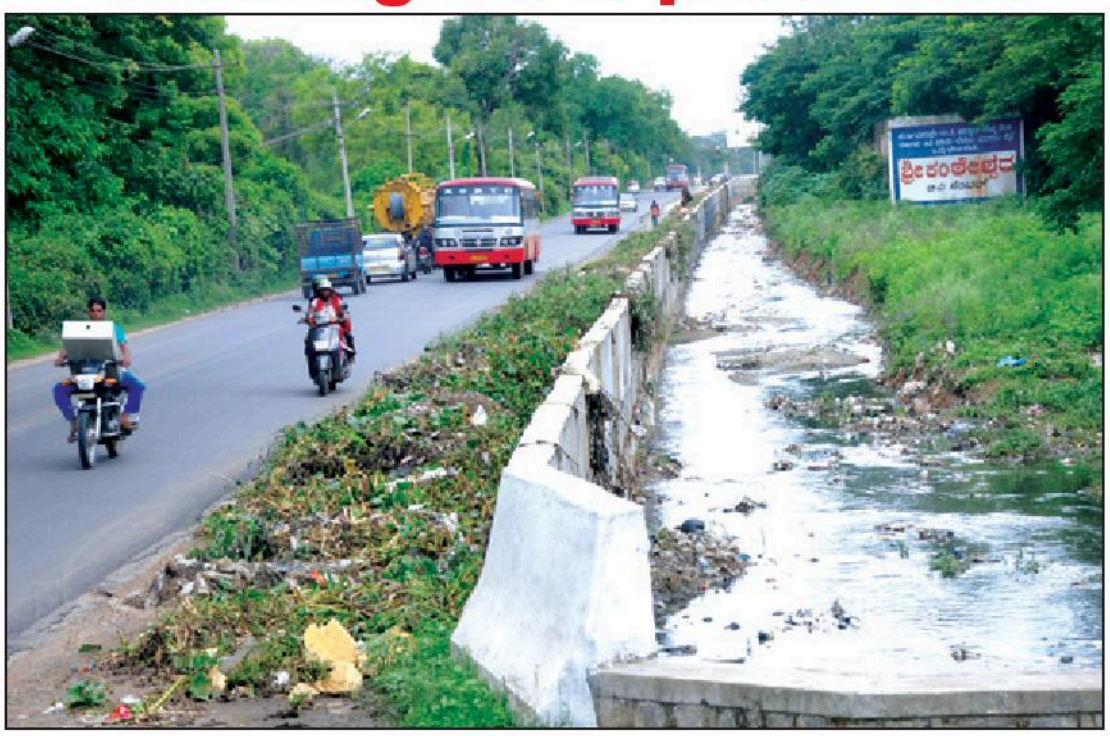
MCC's cleaning of Raja Kaluve creating more problems



Mysuru, June 8 (YDS&NNN)- The Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has become the target of public ire by trying to solve one problem and creating another.

The storm water drain (Raja Kaluve) on Mysuru-Nanjangud Road has been cleaned but the garbage thus collected has been thrown on the roadside. When it rains heavily the garbage gets collected on the road thus affecting traffic. There is also fear of mosquito menace and spread of diseases.

The moment it starts raining heavily in city, the roads turn into lakes. Water enters homes and the people are put to untold hardships. The unscientific planning of storm water drains and the Raja Kaluves filled with garbage not being cleaned, such problems arise, say the public expressing their anger.

The media has brought this issue to the notice of the MCC several times and it has taken steps to clean the storm water drains a few times. Hence, the situation at times improves a bit. However, the citizens are upset that this has led to the problem of dumping of garbage on the roads.

The Raja Kaluve was cleaned near Shaktidhama 10 days ago with the help of a JCB and the garbage and silt from the drain is dumped on the roadside which is not been cleaned till now. This has resulted in mounds of rubbish gathered at the place for weeks. Instead of dumping, it could have been straight away filled into the trucks and cleared, feel the public.

Even though the reason given is that the garbage was wet waste and it could not be cleared on the same day, at least it could have been cleared the next day. Instead, leaving it in the open for days will only lead to spread of many diseases, fear the citizens.

As the road widening works is in progress, the road is very narrow from JSS College to Madhuvana. Now that the garbage is dumped on the road, the already narrow road has now become congested and the footpath encroached.

Hence, the pedestrians are forced to walk on this busy road risking their lives.

The MCC should intervene urgently to resolve the problem, urge the citizens.

The garbage could have been transported through trucks while the Raja Kaluve was being cleaned. However, even after a week garbage has not been cleared. Since the rainwater collects and gets mixed with the garbage as it has no place to flow, the whole area is stinking. Added to this, the mosquito menace has increased and there is a fear of spread of diseases. Hence, the officials concerned must take immediate steps to clear the place.

Mysuru City to get Cauvery River Gallery soon

Project conceived in 2016 fails to take off; Plans afoot now to revive the project

Bengaluru, June 8 (KMS&BCT)- The Heritage City of Mysuru will soon get a Cauvery River Gallery.

The Gallery is expected to showcase the life, culture and biodiversity along the river from its birth in Kodagu till it reaches the Bay of Bengal.

The exhibits at the Gallery would also include multimedia features and electronic display to provide the visitors an immersive experience of life and culture along the river, said the Chairman of Karnataka Knowledge Commission and former ISRO Chairman Dr. K. Kasturirangan.

Speaking to reporters in Bengaluru yesterday, he said that he had a talk with Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy on the setting up of the gallery and a detailed project report will be prepared.

The Gallery would highlight the geological and ecological characteristics of the Cauvery River apart from projecting the social and cultural characteristic features of civilisation that have evolved along the river bank, he said.

The plan to set up the Cauvery River Gallery in Mysuru is not a new proposal but an old project that is being revived now. It may be recalled here that in 2016, Karnataka's Tourism and the National Academy of Sciences of India (NASI) had signed a memorandum of understanding to set up a Cauvery River Gallery in Mysuru.

Then, the Tourism Department officials and NASI executives had decided to establish the gallery at the Karnataka Exhibition Authority (KEA) complex. The project was to be completed in six to nine months and it was expected to become a major tourist attraction. The project, however, was shelved for reasons best known to the officials.

Once established now, the Cauvery Gallery in Mysuru will be the third in the country. There is a Gallery for River Brahmaputra in Guwahati and River Ganga has a Gallery in Allahabad.

The Karnataka Knowledge Commission had recommended the establishment of the Gallery and it will provide inputs to the National Council of Science Museums (NCSM) for the implementation of the project.

WORD OF THE DAY

Hollyhock

Pronunciation: hol-ee-hok, -hawk.

Meaning: A tall Eurasian plant of the mallow family, with large showy flowers.

Origin: Middle English: from holy + obsolete hock 'mallow', of unknown origin. It originally denoted the marsh mallow which has medicinal uses (hence, perhaps, the use of 'holy'); the current sense dates from the mid 16th century. The name "hollyhock" has been used to refer to the flowers in England since the 13th century, although it was originally spelled holihoc, a portmanteau of holi, for holy, and hoc, for mallow. The plant was also referred to as St. Cuthbert's Cole, suggesting that it may have been included in religious gardens such as those at churches and monasteries.

Hollyhocks are an easy plant to grow and they seem to have been around forever. They are especially easy plants for beginners to grow successfully and they can be a strong accent plant in gardens and cottage-like borders. Hollyhocks bloom over a long summer season and will attract hummingbirds and butterflies. They are a biennial or short-lived perennial, but will usually reseed themselves and return year after year. They can grow up to 7'. Hollyhocks are available in a variety of colours including white, pink, yellow, red, bi-colour shades and black. Sun Exposure: Full sun.

THE ODD WORD

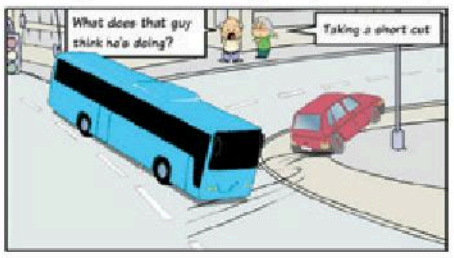
Cerulean

Deep sky blue.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

To cut corners

Meaning: To do something badly or cheaply.



Origin: It's a metaphor from driving - not necessarily motor driving, because it also applies to horse-drawn carriages. When you come to a sharp turn in the road, instead of going all the way to the corner and then turning, you can go diagonally across, and "cut the corner off". This saves time, but entails a risk of clipping the kerb and overturning, or being involved in a pile-up with another vehicle. Thus "to cut corners" means to discard normal safe practice in order to get fast results. In the U.S., cutting corners means applying economy measures inappropriately, such as using cheap materials in a product or not checking details.

QUOTE BOX

Sometimes you find your strongest faith in the darkest corners.
